

KNOW YOUR TEQUILA

Tequila 101

It seems no other liquid is surrounded by as many stories, myths, legends and lore as Tequila and its sister beverage Mezcal. Yet as wine and whisky have taken their place in modernized western culture, so too has Tequila. While plenty have sampled various breeds of this zesty spirit in the form of a margarita, many more are discovering that good Tequila is a drink to be enjoyed like a fine Cognac or Scotch.

The Aztec people were first to make a fermented beverage from the agave plant long before the Spanish arrived. However, the Spanish had been introduced to the art of distillation by the Moors in 800 A.D. and they brought the technology with them when Cortez landed in 1519. When their brandy ran out they began to distill the Aztec beverage to create North America's first indigenous distilled spirit. First produced near the future city of Tequila, this would eventually become its name. Around 1600, Don Pedro Sanchez de Tagle began mass-producing at the first factory in the territory of modern-day Jalisco.

Today the name Tequila is internationally protected by the country of Mexico. Just as Champagne can only be made in the Champagne region of France, "Tequila" can only be produced in one of five states in Mexico: Jalisco, Michoacan, Guanajuato, Nayarit and Tamaulipas. Mexican law requires that at least 51% Blue Agave must be present to use the name Tequila and manufacturers must label each bottle with the percentage of Blue Agave in the finished product. Those with less than 100% Agave are considered blends and use some other ingredient, such as sugar cane, to make up the remaining 49%.

Mezcal or Tequila?

In actual fact, all tequilas are Mezcal but by Mexican law only those made from Blue Weber Agave can be called "Tequila." There are however over 130 species of Agavaceae in Mexico and several can be used to make Mezcal using natural processes over four hundred years old.

RESTAURANT TEQUILERIA

The Mammoth Margarita™

We don't have a "house" margarita. Frankly, most restaurants use cheap tequila that is only 51% Agave and other ingredients to give the appearance of quality but really are causes for a headache! Perhaps they assume customers don't know the difference...we do. It's important to "know your tequila!"

We are proud to say we use only 100% Agave Reposado (rested) tequila in our exclusive recipe featuring the #1 selling brand in Mexico, El Jimador. The craft of aging not only mellows the tequila, but gentle flavors from the barrel compliment our recipe. To this we add our Mammoth Margarita™ blend which features several unique proprietary ingredients prepared here and kept under continuous agitation and cold temperature until served...The result? A refreshing experience which we enjoy serving grande in a 22oz authentic hand-blown glass from Guadalajara, Mexico.

Proprietary recipe • Delicious • Unique

The Sierra Sangria

When we added a Sangria to our menu we set out to find our own uniquely satisfying approach. The Sierra Sangria is just that. We batch a proprietary blend of quality Merlot, 100% Agave tequila, St. Germain Elderflower Liquor, citrus fruits, berries, pomegranate, organic agave nectar and other juices which are allowed to infuse for several days then served chilled over ice. $9.95 Carafe $17.95

Premium Sipping Tequila

Our private reserve of tequilas locked in our vault. Some of these premiums have been aged 3 to 11 years... others exhibit unique quality in their craftsmanship... all are known for their distinct flavors and aromas while retaining the warm finish that distinguishes fine tequila. "Shooting" or placing these spirits in a margarita will solicit strange glances from discerning tequila aficionados as these are intended for sipping. Served "neat" in a snifter.
